Curator's Report.

GENTLEMEN,

Thanks to some re-arrangement and sorting of specimens, more use has been made of the Pathological Collection this year than heretofore. The difficulty of obtaining materials, glass, mounting fluids, &c, has made very little permanent mounting possible, although some twenty-one new specimens have been added, exclusive of a valuable collection of Epiphyses and other bones, presented to the Museum by Dr. John Knott. Of the added specimens, 1 was given by Sir John Moore, 1 by Professor Scott, 2 by the President, 2 by Professor Johnston, and 15 by the Curator.
